GAME & PEST GUIDE

PYRAMYDAIR.COM/GAME-GUIDE

If you're planning to go hunting with air guns, it's important to consider a few key factors when deciding which air gun and caliber to use. The most important thing to consider is the type of game you'll be hunting. The size and physical characteristics of the animal will play a big role in determining which weapon you should choose.

We've put together this handy guide to help you choose the right air gun and caliber for your next hunting trip. We break down the various types of game that you might encounter and recommend the appropriate powerplant and caliber for each. With this information, you'll be able to make an informed decision and ensure a successful hunt. So, whether you're going after small game like rabbits, or larger game like deer, we've got you covered.

GAME WEIGHT	CALIBER	ENERGY	POWERPLANT	KILLZONE
<2 lbs	.177+	8 FPE 	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Multi-pumpSpring/gas pistonPCP	 Head
2-20 lbs	.22+	10 FPE 	<ul style="list-style-type: none">Multi-pumpSpring/gas pistonPCP	 Head
20-35 lbs	.25+	50 FPE 	PCP	 Head + Heart
50-75 lbs	.30+	100 FPE 	PCP	 Head + Heart
75-250 lbs	.357+	250 FPE 	PCP	 Vital Organs
250-500 lbs	.45+	500 FPE 	PCP	 Vital Organs
over 500 lbs	.50+	500 + 	PCP	 Vital Organs

RECOMMENDED CALIBERS FOR HUNTING SMALL GAME

A .177 caliber pellet will leave a small hole in the target minimizing damage to the meat, but only works well on very small animals. A .22 caliber pellet is harder hitting than .177, and can take larger game but leaves a larger hole in the target.

CALIBER TIPS

.177

- ACCURATE AT SHORTER DISTANCES
- MOST POPULAR CALIBER
- OFFICIAL CHOICE FOR COMPETITION SHOOTING

.22

- BOTH SLUGS AND PELLETS AVAILABLE
- INCREASED KNOCKDOWN POWER
- GREAT FOR SMALL GAME HUNTING

.25

- PERFECT FOR MEDIUM GAME
- SHOOTS WELL AT LONGER DISTANCES
- MOST KNOCKDOWN POWER FOR SMALL-BORE CALIBERS

.30-.50

- BIG BORE
- MEDIUM AND LARGE GAME HUNTING
- IMPRESSIVE POWER & LONG RANGE ACCURACY

AIRGUNS LARGE GAME

For large game, the power of your air rifle will be more important than the caliber of pellet you use, though the weight of the pellet along with its size and the velocity at which it's shot will determine the punch it will pack. Large game is anything over 75 lbs.

BIG BORE — AIRGUN HUNTING —

PYRAMYDAIR.COM/BIG-BORE-HUNTING-TIPS

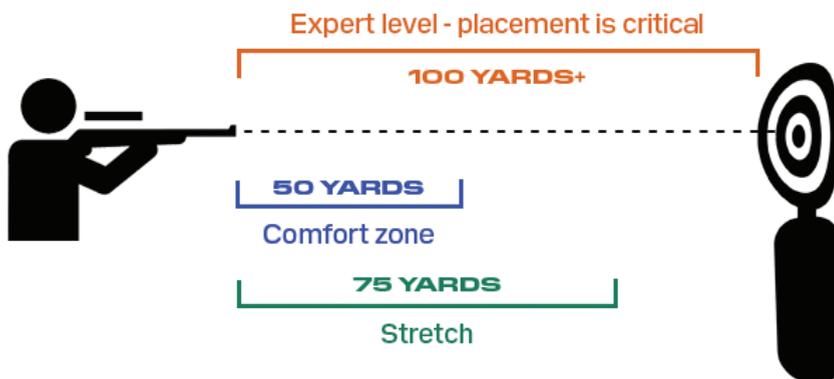

Any big game hunting air rifle needs to be a big bore, ideally .35 caliber or larger, but bigger tends to be better. To achieve the necessary power in these calibers, you'll need to look exclusively at a pre-charged pneumatic (PCP) air rifle. The other powerplants just don't have the power necessary to take out big game. When you're shopping for a big bore, consider the game you are hunting, the caliber you want to hunt with, and the ammo you are going to use.

Along with game size, caliber, and power, you also need to consider your effective range.

THINK ONE-SHOT KILL

Our effective range is the distance from which your airgun can kill your quarry cleanly and efficiently.

WHAT'S THE EFFECTIVE RANGE?

AIRGUNS SMALL GAME

Small game hunting refers to taking animals under 20 lbs such as birds, rabbits, and prairie dogs. Rifles that work well for small game hunting have multi-pump, spring or gas piston, or pre-charged pneumatic (PCP) powerplants.
